

Freedom

They may have beaten me,
They may have tried to steal my pride
But they taught me a greater lesson

I learned not to hang my head
I learned to maintain my peace
I learned not to cry myself dead

They may have beaten me
They may have tried to steal my pride
But the free will inside my mind
Kept me alive when my body tried to die

In my dreams when I was asleep
I received the greatest gift
Dreams, that lead me to world peace

Freedom can be life and lies Freedom could be life in the skies
Freedom is anything you make it Freedom is free will

Am I Really Free?

I was free,
Well, as far as the I could see,
The sky was blue as could be,
Made me smile uncontrollably,

The air brushed past my face,
I was free!
It felt like I had just won a race,
Trees surrounded me,

My head now lifting,
As I could see where I was,
I gazed to see the sky,
But it was not there,
For now I lay and started to cry

Freedom

With your freedom
you're not a slave
With your freedom
it lets you shave

With your freedom
you can think what you like
With your freedom
you can ride your bike

With your freedom
you can look at proof
With your freedom
you can eat your food

With your freedom
you can pet a sheep
With your freedom
you can sleep
